YOUR REACTIONS PLEASE

The second captioned program in the Public Broadcasting System's Captioning for the Deaf experiment will be shown on Saturday, March 16, from 2-3:30 in room 213 of Hall Memorial Building and the Library, as well as at the WETA-TV studio at 3620 27th Street, Arlington, Virginia. To get to the studio, take I-95 South to the Shirlington exit. People are requested to arrive one-half hour before the program starts.

The program is about cancer and is from "The Killers" series. Deaf and hard of hearing people are needed to attend. Your evaluations and reactions to the captioning will be used in developing the caption decoding device for home TV use.

SIGN LANGUAGE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

The Linguistics Research Laboratory and the Sign Language Programs are sponsoring their first annual Sign Language Conference on Saturday, April 27, at Gallaudet College.

The conference will attempt to examine sign language from the perspectives of educators, interpreters, sociologists, psychologists and linguists and to examine the many different kinds of signing now in use.

In developing the theme of the conference "American Sign Language and English: What Lies In Between," some of the following topics have been proposed for discussion: issues in language and culture; adolescent signing; "verbal," "non-verbal," and "low verbal;" teacher training programs and standardization and the effects of using a stigmatized language.

If you want information regarding registration of wish to be considered for a presentation, please contact either Robbin Battison or Will Madsen.

NOW IS THE TIME...

...for all good men and women to come to the aid of their Library! If you are going to a conference, workshop, meeting, etc., please appoint yourself as a library spy and collect as much information and materials as possible. This includes programs, copies of speeches (your's and other's), etc.

The only way the Library can develop sources of information for researchers, teachers and just curious people is if the entire College community cooperates. The Library doesn't want you to spend your own money --- just get the purchasing information and they will buy it! They don't want you to take your only copy and give it to the Library --- they will xerox it gladly! Don't assume that anything is trivial --- the Library needs all types of information!

Please send your information and leads on other sources of information to Carolyn Jones.

COUNSELING SERVICES RECEIVE ACCREDITATION

The Counseling and Placement Center has been selected for accredited membership in the International Association of Counseling Services (IACS). In a letter of recommendation, Allan M. Leventhal, president of IACS, congratulated Gallaudet for maintaining high professional standards in offering competent and reliable counseling for its students.

Operating as a "human resource center," the Center provides personal counseling and supportive services which assist the student in developing his abilities as an individual and as a member of a group. In addition, employment information, career development and assistance in placement are offered; and since the establishment of this service in 1970, the department has assisted or placed over 90% of each graduating class.
